متن فایل صوتی شماره ۱

A: Why were you absent last week?

B: Sorry Miss. I had an accident last Monday.

A: I'm sorry to hear that. What happened?

B: I was walking home in the afternoon. A motorcycle was driving very fast. The driver was talking with his cellphone. He hit me and hurt my head.

A: Oh, God! What happened next?

B: I was in the hospital for 2 days. When I was resting in the hospital, the man came to visit me. He said he was sorry.

A: Thank God you're OK now.

Hello. Today, I want to talk about science and how to become a scientist. Firstly, read books about science. Reading books about science can help you understand how things work and how scientists make discoveries. Secondly, do science experiments at home. By doing experiments, you can see how science actually works and learn how to think like a scientist. You can learn about things like chemistry, physics and biology by doing experiments at home. Thirdly, you can visit science museums or go to science camps to learn more about science and meet other kids who are interested in science. Finally, it's important to remember that science is all about asking questions about the world around you. If you really want to learn about something, ask questions and try to find the answers, then you'll be on your way to becoming a great scientist.
